Call for participants

WHY THIS TRAINING COURSE?

Global Education is an educational approach that seeks to open people's eyes to the realities of today's interconnected world and to inspire them to contribute to a more just, equitable, and human-rights-based global society. In a context shaped by globalization, inequality, climate change, and social transformation, education plays a crucial role in enabling individuals to understand global challenges and their local implications.

In order to participate meaningfully in contemporary society, citizens need a wide range of competencies that allow them to understand global processes, critically reflect on them, and engage responsibly at local, national, and global levels. In this context, European citizens are increasingly called upon to develop active knowledge of global issues and to recognize the impact of their everyday choices and behaviours on people and communities worldwide.

WHY THIS TRAINING COURSE?

This training course responds to these needs by focusing on the capacity-building of youth workers and educators who play a key role in shaping young people's perspectives and engagement. The course aims to equip participants with essential knowledge, skills, and methodologies to become effective trainers in the field of global education. Through a strong emphasis on non-formal and experiential learning, participants will explore key global education themes such as sustainable development, social justice, and global citizenship.

By the end of the training, participants will be able to design, deliver, and evaluate their own global education training sessions. Equipped with practical tools and facilitation skills, they will be empowered to support young people in their home communities to become informed, critical, and active global citizens.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The main goal of this training is to raise the capacity of youth workers from different European countries to prepare, deliver and evaluate Global Education Activities for young people.

Learning Objectives:

LEARNING PRINCIPLES & FACILITATORS

The course is strongly based on experiential learning principles and philosophy, with adequate time allocated for debriefing and reflection throughout the whole program. The working methods used are chosen to offer the possibility of equal involvement of each participant, every person would to be engaged actively in the process. The training has a proposed structure (based on previous work in the field), but, the activities are flexible and adaptable to group needs taking into account the reactions of participants, their feedback, their expressed needs, their experience and the way they will work as a group.

The training will include global education sessions prepared and delivered by the participants, with coaching from the trainers' team and feedback sessions from the entire group.

The learning process will be guided and facilitated by Andreea Oglagea and Victoria Carasava, who both share a deep passion for global education topics and non-formal learning processes.
